Dear Dr. McAllister:

I write to inquire about applying for research grants (no one was at the office telephone number today). If our Research Affairs Office information is correct, a brief preliminary research plan should be submitted to your office, and your Advisory Board then votes to encourage formal applications. The next submission deadline is listed as May 31; I assume this is for the final formal application. If you are now accepting preliminary proposals for this submission date, may I ask you to send forms and instructions as soon as possible?

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Michael N. Margolies, M.D.
